Assume an integer array $A$ has been read in which has 100 positive elements. Write code that will determine how many different elements there really are in $A$, ignoring repeats. (You can destroy $A$ if needed.)

```cpp
const int COUNT = 100;
int A[COUNT];
// reading in of A omitted
```