In-class Practice 20: String Code and Compare

Write a function that mimics the C function `strcmp`. This function takes two strings and returns 0 if they are equal, a negative number if the first occurs earlier in the dictionary than the second, and a positive number otherwise.

```c
int strcmp( char A[], char B[])
{
```