Let \texttt{List} be a matrix, each row of which has two values representing the \textit{x}- and \textit{y}-coordinates of a point.

Write a function that finds (the index of) the point with the smallest \textit{y}-coordinate. Then does a plot joining the points with a red marker over the leftmost point.